
Subject: Stella 6.7

Posted by ongoto on Wed, 29 Jul 2015 03:10:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello all

Been away from the forum a while. I moved and have no internet at home. Have to use wifi 'hot-spots'.

Noticed today that Centos 6.7 will be released in a couple weeks. The CR repository has been loaded with packages, but I haven't had much success with the 6.7 upgrade. Looking forward to a new Stella 6.7 ISO if that's possible.

Hope everyone is still healthy, wealthy, and wise.

Cheers,
ongoto

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7

Posted by nux on Wed, 29 Jul 2015 08:55:23 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

There will be an ISO after 6.7 is released and bugs panned out.

Why haven't you had luck with the upgrade? Please report any errors so I can fix it.

Best regards :)

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7

Posted by ongoto on Thu, 30 Jul 2015 03:37:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi nux

That's good news.

The errors are not at your end (I think). As I mentioned, I have to use public wifi and the bandwidth is flakey at best. I was able to download all but cups and kernel-devel (372 pkgs) . The servers timed out due to really slow speed. Yum won't resume where it left off, so I have to wait again for all the downloads. I tried twice, but I only have so much battery life in this laptop.

I'm thinking that an ISO provided later on by you would be a better bet in my situation.

Thanks and be well.
ongoto

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7
Posted by nux on Thu, 30 Jul 2015 09:40:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Roger

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7
Posted by detipco on Thu, 30 Jul 2015 16:54:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi ongoto,
fine that you are still here and being also a trusty fan of nux like me. :)
Last time I've tested so many other distros, but nothing compares to nux.

Cheers, detipco

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7
Posted by ongoto on Fri, 31 Jul 2015 03:26:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello detipco
Good to see you still here. Stella is still my workhorse too. Can't break the Gnome2 habit I guess.

Thanks for the shout. :)
ongoto

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7
Posted by detipco on Mon, 17 Aug 2015 13:23:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

:) <https://forums.nux.ro/index.php?t=msg&th=579&start=0&S=a0c97a6c3d015a1c0fa7e25bb740425c>

:evil: <http://distrowatch.com/index.php?distribution=stella&release=all&month=all&year=all>

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7
Posted by nux on Tue, 18 Aug 2015 09:26:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's ok, the thing is I never really tell them anything when I release so they're in the dark. :)

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7

Posted by ongoto on Mon, 07 Sep 2015 16:34:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello again

Well things are looking up. I was going to download the new ISO, but it is a 5 hour job. I looked at buying one from OSDisc but they only offer 6.5. I'll suggest to them an upgrade.

<https://www.osdisc.com/products?q=stella+linux>

So I tried yum update and it worked this time. My battery died and the laptop shutdown during the updates. I was able to recover after a re-charge with the yum-complete-transaction command. I think I'm now using 6.7

Stella release 6.7 (Final)

Kernel: 2.6.32-573.3.1.el6.x86_64 on a x86_64

@nux

Thanx for all your time and hard work on the new ISO.

@detipco

Thanks for the links and suggestions.

Cheers :d

EDIT:

I just checked the OSDisc link above and they have upgraded to the new version 6.7. Way to go team!!! :d

Subject: Re: Stella 6.7

Posted by nux on Fri, 18 Sep 2015 12:33:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hehe, good
